“Research on Social Protection (focus on Indonesian household surveys)”

The Effect of Social Protection Benefits on Growth and Equality

PROJECT 00100360 - International Policy Centre for Inclusive Growth (IPC-IG)

1. Background

The International Policy Centre for Inclusive Growth (IPC-IG) is a joint project between the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the Brazilian Government to promote South-South cooperation in relevant subjects for the development.

IPC-IG and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development – OECD signed a partnership contract to study the effects of social protection on economic growth and equality. The overall objective of the contract is to identify and quantify the role played by social protection benefits (such as pensions, employment and social assistance benefits) on inclusive growth (defined by distributing the dividends of increased prosperity across society). This study will be based on four major phases:

- 1) Identify growth- and equity-conducive individual behaviours within various growth theories
- 2) Review the existing literature on the effects of social protection policies on individual behaviours that are likely linked to inclusive growth
- 3) Develop an analytical framework (including data, identification strategy, model)
- 4) Test empirical evidence on selected sample of countries

The objective of the first phase is to link economic theories of development and micro-level behaviours that lead to more growth and/or better distribution and what are the individual behaviours that do not. The objective of the second phase is to conduct a thorough literature review on social protection benefits and their impacts on individual decisions and behaviours. The third phase will develop an analytical framework for the empirical analysis. Finally, phase four will test empirical evidence on selected countries.

Phase three will include the definition of countries that will be analysed (3 or 4 countries) and datasets (fundamentally, household surveys) and variables that should be used in the analysis, as well as the specification of the econometric models that can be used along the analysis.

2. OBJECTIVE

The objective of this Term of Reference (ToR) is to hire a high-level consultant in the Individual Consultant (IC) modality for 3 months to work on the final phase (phase 4) of the project. Phase four is where the effects of social protection upon growth-enhancing or growth retarding individual and household behaviours will be estimated using microdata from household surveys.

3. SCOPE OF WORK

Under the substantive guidance and the oversight by IPC-IG Research Coordinators and following the UNDP Brazil Country Office's policies and guidelines, the IC is expected to use Indonesian household surveys to investigate the relation between social protection programs and individual and household behaviours that are related to macroeconomic growth. These behaviours should include those related to: (i) aggregate demand (household consumption); (ii) physical capital accumulation (household savings); (iii) human capital (schooling, child labour, early pregnancy, and health); (iv) labour supply (labour supply, total fertility, and migration); and (v) innovation (opening a firm, investing in a firm).

This is a nontrivial undertaking plagued by various difficulties.

The first obvious one is that much that determines growth does not occur, and cannot be measured, at the household and individual level. There are fundamental growth enhancing or growth reducing behaviours that happen in firms, in governments or in markets at large and not in households. Given the household approach taken here, the solution is to ignore this type of difficulty and concentrate on behaviours that can be measured at the individual or household level.

The second is that these estimations will be plagued by endogeneity. It is accounting for this and if possible correcting for it that is the objective of most of the discussion developed below.

The basic relation to be estimated is the following:

$$\text{Behaviour} = f\left(\frac{\text{Percent of household income from } \mathbf{\text{social security}}}{\text{Percent of household income from } \mathbf{\text{targeted cash transfers}}}, \frac{\text{Percent of household income from } \mathbf{\text{labour market related transfers}} \text{ (such as unemployment compensation)}}{\text{Percent of household income from labour}}, \frac{\text{Percent of household income from other sources (such as capital or transfers from other households)}}{\text{Percent of household income from other sources (such as capital or transfers from other households)}}$$

Control variables and the household (household income, household size, highest educational attainment in the household, female headed household ...) and individual (own age, own education, sex, ethnicity race ...)

Social security will be growth enhancing (growth reducing) if its coefficient is greater than that of labour (less than that of labour). If labour income is the omitted category, then this is an issue of seeing whether the coefficient is positive or negative. The same holds true for the estimated coefficients for targeted cash transfers or labour market related transfers.

Note that the estimation above mixes household variables with individual variables. In principle, this should not be a problem since the number of households in household surveys is usually quite large. If the sample size is small, then multilevel techniques must be used.

There are, however, obvious endogeneity problems with this approach. For example, if estimated using ordinary least squares or a probit, the relation between disability compensation and labour supply will be endogenous: being disabled → labour supply and being disabled → receiving disability compensation mean that receiving disability compensation → labour supply will be estimated as strong whereas there is an omitted variable, which is being disabled. This is true of almost all well designed social protection benefits. Unemployment compensation does not necessarily lead unemployment, targeted transfers to not necessarily lead to poverty, etc.

The usual solution for this type of problem is to use instrumental variables (IVs). The ideal IVs are those that can be characterized as natural experiments (glitches in the implementation of selection programs, exogenous changes in eligibility rules, etc.), and these are the ideal. Unfortunately, natural experiments are as valuable as they are rare, which means that other types of IVs must usually be found. One possibility that has worked well in the Brazilian case is to use the age composition of the household as an instrument for social protection (household with more elderly will get more from social security; households with more children will get more from targeted transfers). Deep knowledge of the social protection rules of each country is necessary to know what is, and what is not, a good IV. Ultimately, it is the quality of these IVs that will determine the credibility of the estimated results.

It is expected that the IC be thoroughly familiar with the social protection system, in its details, of the country under study, in order to use them to find the best possible IVs or quasi-experimental designs.

Other possible approaches are quasi-experimental designs such as Regression Discontinuity Designs and Propensity Score Matching. Double differences also allow researchers to net out endogeneity which varies in time.

The behaviours to be estimated will depend on the variables available in the household surveys. The IC will be expected to consider as many as possible of the following outcomes:

- Household consumption
- Household savings
- School attendance
- School attainment
- School achievement
- Adult labour supply
- Employment formalization
- Child labour
- Fertility
- Early pregnancy
- Propensity to open a business
- Financing used for expanding business
- New product/new process in business
- Business formalization
- Migration

Rarely are all these variables found in a single household survey. In many cases some may be found in labour market surveys, others in consumption surveys, other in health surveys and yet others in various types of administrative data. It is expected that the IC be thoroughly familiar with these different data sources and make use of all which are appropriate to the country being studied.

In some cases household surveys will not allow for the estimation of some of these variables. But surveys allowing, we expect their estimation both with and without IVs or quasi-experimental approaches.

The models to be used will vary, but will be ordinary regressions and tobits for continuous variables such as consumption and savings; probit, logit, multinomial logit, and multinomial probit for binary variables such as school attendance, child labour or early pregnancy; and Poisson regression or ordered probits for count data such as school attainment or fertility. Once again all estimations must be undertaken both without and with some kind of identifying instrumental variable (or regression discontinuity, or matching or other identifying approach).

The work will be highly interactive and IPC-IG Research Coordinators will be in constant contact with the IC (Individual Contractor).

4. DUTY STATION

The activities of the Consultant can be performed remotely. Conference calls between the IC and IPC-IG representatives are to be held biweekly during the contract.

PROHIBITION ON ASSIGNMENT; MODIFICATIONS: The Individual contractor may not assign, delegate, transfer, pledge or make any other disposition of the Contract, of any part thereof, or of any of the rights, claims or obligations under the Contract except with the prior written authorization of UNDP, and any attempt to do so shall be null and void. The terms or conditions of any supplemental undertakings, licenses or other forms of Contract concerning any goods or services to be provided under the Contract shall not be valid and enforceable against UNDP nor in any way shall constitute a contract by UNDP thereto, unless any such undertakings, licenses or other forms of contract are the subject of a valid written undertaking by UNDP. No modification or change in the Contract shall be valid and enforceable against UNDP unless provided by means of a valid written amendment to the Contract signed by the Individual contractor and an authorized official or appropriate contracting authority of UNDP.

7. SUBCONTRACTORS: In the event that the Individual contractor requires the services of subcontractors to perform any obligations under the Contract, the Individual contractor shall obtain the prior written approval of UNDP for any such subcontractors. UNDP may, in its sole discretion, reject any proposed subcontractor or require such subcontractor's removal without having to give any justification therefore, and such rejection shall not entitle the Individual contractor to claim any delays in the performance, or to assert any excuses for the non-performance, of any of his or her obligations under the Contract. The Individual contractor shall be solely responsible for all services and obligations performed by his or her subcontractors. The terms of any subcontract shall be subject to, and shall be construed in a manner that is fully in accordance with, all of the terms and conditions of the Contract.

8. USE OF NAME, EMBLEM OR OFFICIAL SEAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS: The Individual contractor shall not advertise or otherwise make public for purposes of commercial advantage or goodwill that it has a contractual relationship with UNDP, nor shall the Individual contractor, in any manner whatsoever, use the name, emblem or official seal of UNDP, or any abbreviation of the name of UNDP, in connection with his or her business or otherwise without the written permission of UNDP.

9. INDEMNIFICATION: The Individual contractor shall indemnify, defend, and hold and save harmless UNDP, and its officials, agents and employees, from and against all suits, proceedings, claims, demands, losses and liability of any kind or nature, including, but not limited to, all litigation costs and expenses, attorney's fees, settlement payments and damages, based on, arising from, or relating to: (a) allegations or claims that the use by UNDP of any patented device, any copyrighted material or any other goods or services provided to UNDP for its use under the terms of the Contract, in whole or in part, separately or in combination, constitutes an infringement of any patent, copyright, trademark or other intellectual property right of any third party; or (b) any acts or omissions of the Individual contractor, or of any subcontractor or anyone directly or indirectly employed by them in the performance of the Contract, which give rise to legal liability to anyone not a party to the Contract, including, without limitation, claims and liability in the nature of a claim for workers' compensation.

10. INSURANCE: The Individual contractor shall pay UNDP promptly for all loss, destruction or damage to the property of UNDP caused by the Individual contractor, or of any subcontractor, or anyone directly or indirectly employed by them in the performance of the Contract. The Individual contractor shall be solely responsible for taking out and for maintaining adequate insurance required to meet any of his or her obligations under the Contract, as well as for arranging, at the Individual contractor's sole expense, such life, health and other forms of insurance as the Individual contractor may consider to be appropriate to cover the period during which the Individual contractor provides services under the Contract. The Individual contractor acknowledges and agrees that none of the insurance arrangements the Individual contractor shall, in any way, be construed to limit the Individual contractor's liability arising under or relating to the Contract.

11. ENCUMBRANCES AND LIENS: The Individual contractor shall not cause or permit any lien, attachment or other encumbrance by any person to be placed on file or to remain on file in any public office or on file with UNDP against any monies due to the Individual contractor or to become due for any work donor or against any goods supplied or materials furnished under the Contract, or by reason of any other claim or demand against the Individual contractor.

12. FORCE MAJEURE; OTHER CHANGES IN CONDITIONS: In the event of and as soon as possible after the occurrence of any cause constituting force majeure, the Individual contractor shall give notice and full particulars in writing to UNDP of such occurrence or cause if the Individual contractor is thereby rendered unable, wholly or in part, to perform his or her obligations and meet his or her responsibilities under the Contract. The Individual contractor shall also notify UNDP of any other changes in conditions or the occurrence of any event, which interferes or threatens to interfere with the performance of the Contract. Not more than fifteen (15) days following the provision of such notice of force majeure or other changes in conditions or occurrence, the Individual contractor shall also submit a statement to UNDP of estimated expenditures that will likely be incurred for the duration of the change in conditions or the event. On receipt of the notice or notices required hereunder, UNDP shall take such action as it considers, in its sole discretion, to be appropriate or necessary in the circumstances, including the granting to the Individual contractor of a reasonable extension of time in which to perform any obligations under the Contract or suspension thereof.

Force majeure as used herein means any unforeseeable and irresistible act of nature, any act of war (whether declared or not), invasion, revolution, insurrection, or any other acts of a similar nature or force, provided that such acts arise from causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Individual contractor. The Individual contractor acknowledges and agrees that, with respect to any obligations under the Contract that the Individual contractor must perform in or for any areas in which UNDP is engaged in, preparing to engage in, or disengaging from any peacekeeping, humanitarian or similar operations, any delay or failure to perform such obligations arising from or relating to harsh conditions within such areas or to any incidents of civil unrest occurring in such areas shall not, in and of itself, constitute force majeure under the Contract.

13. TERMINATION: Either party may terminate the Contract, in whole or in part, upon giving written notice to the other party. The period of notice shall be five (5) days in the case of contracts for a total period of less than two (2) months and fourteen (14) days in the case of contracts for a longer period. The initiation of conciliation or arbitral proceedings, as provided below, shall not be deemed to be a "cause" for or otherwise to be in itself a termination of the Contract. UNDP may, without prejudice to any other right or remedy available to it, terminate the Contract forthwith in the event that: (a) the Individual contractor is adjudged bankrupt, or is liquidated, or becomes insolvent, applies for moratorium or stay on any payment or repayment obligations, or applies to be declared insolvent; (b) the Individual contractor is granted a moratorium or a stay or is declared insolvent; (c) the Individual contractor makes an assignment for the benefit of one or more of his or her creditors; (d) a Receiver is appointed on account of the insolvency of the Individual contractor; (e) the Individual contractor offers a settlement in lieu of bankruptcy or receivership; or (f) UNDP reasonably determines that the Individual contractor has become subject to a materially adverse change in financial condition that threatens to endanger or otherwise substantially affect the ability of the Individual contractor to perform any of the obligations under the Contract.

In the event of any termination of the Contract, upon receipt of notice of termination by UNDP, the Individual contractor shall, except as may be directed by UNDP in the notice of termination or otherwise in writing: (a) take immediate steps to bring the performance of any obligations under the Contract to a close in a prompt and orderly manner, and in doing so, reduce expenses to a minimum; (b) refrain from undertaking any further or additional commitments under the Contract as of and following the date of receipt of such notice; (c) deliver all completed or partially completed plans, drawings, information and other property that, if the Contract had been completed, would be required to be furnished to UNDP thereunder; (d) complete performance of the services not terminated; and (e) take any other action that may be necessary, or that UNDP may direct in writing, for the protection and preservation of any property, whether tangible or intangible, related to the Contract that is in the possession of the Individual contractor and in which UNDP has or may be reasonably expected to acquire an interest.

In the event of any termination of the Contract, UNDP shall only be liable to pay the Individual contractor compensation on a pro rata basis for no more than the actual amount of work performed to the satisfaction of UNDP in accordance with the requirements of the Contract. Additional costs incurred by UNDP as a result of termination of the Contract by the Individual contractor may be withheld from any amount otherwise due to the Individual contractor by UNDP.

14. NON-EXCLUSIVITY: UNDP shall have no obligation respecting, and no limitations on, its right to obtain goods of the same kind, quality and quantity, or to obtain any services of the kind described in the Contract, from any other source at any time.

15. TAXATION: Article II, section 7, of the Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the United Nations provides, inter alia, that the United Nations, including its subsidiary organs, is exempt from all direct taxes, except charges for public utility services, and is exempt from customs restrictions, duties and charges of a similar nature in respect of articles imported or exported for its official use. In the event any governmental authority refuses to recognize the exemptions of the United Nations from such taxes, restrictions, duties or charges, the Individual contractor shall immediately consult with UNDP to determine a mutually acceptable procedure. UNDP shall have no liability for taxes, duties or other similar charges payable by the Individual contractor in respect of any amounts paid to the Individual contractor under this Contract, and the Individual contractor acknowledges that UNDP will not issue any statements of earnings to the Individual contractor in respect of any such payments.

16. AUDITS AND INVESTIGATIONS: Each invoice paid by UNDP shall be subject to a post-payment audit by auditors, whether internal or external, of UNDP or by other authorized and qualified agents of UNDP. The Individual contractor acknowledges and agrees that UNDP may conduct investigations relating to any aspect of the Contract or the award thereof, and the obligations performed thereunder.

The Individual contractor shall provide full and timely cooperation with any post-payment audits or investigations hereunder. Such cooperation shall include, but shall not be limited to, the Individual contractor's obligation to make available any relevant documentation and information for the purposes of a post-payment audit or an investigation at reasonable times and on reasonable conditions. The Individual contractor shall require his or her employees, subcontractors and agents, if any, including, but not limited to, the Individual contractor's attorneys, accountants or other advisers, to reasonably cooperate with any post-payment audits or investigations carried out by UNDP hereunder.

If the findings or circumstances of a post-payment audit or investigation so warrant, UNDP may, in its sole discretion, take any measures that may be appropriate or necessary, including, but not limited to, suspension of the Contract, with no liability whatsoever to UNDP.

The Individual contractor shall refund to UNDP any amounts shown by a post-payment audit or investigation to have been paid by UNDP other than in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Contract. Such amount may be deducted by UNDP from any payment due to the Individual contractor under the Contract.

The right of UNDP to conduct a post-payment audit or an investigation and the Individual contractor's obligation to comply with such shall not lapse upon expiration or prior termination of the Contract.

17. SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES:

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT: UNDP and the Individual contractor shall use their best efforts to amicably settle any dispute, controversy or claim arising out of the Contract or the breach, termination or invalidity thereof. Where the parties wish to seek such an amicable settlement through conciliation, the conciliation shall take place in accordance with the Conciliation Rules then obtaining of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law ("UNCITRAL"), or according to such other procedure as may be agreed between the parties in writing.

ARBITRATION: Any dispute, controversy or claim between the parties arising out of the Contract, or the breach, termination, or invalidity thereof, unless settled amicably, as provided above, shall be referred by either of the parties to arbitration in accordance with the UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules then obtaining. The decisions of the arbitral tribunal shall be based on general principles of international commercial law. For all evidentiary questions, the arbitral tribunal shall be guided by the Supplementary Rules Governing the Presentation and Reception of Evidence in International Commercial Arbitration of the International Bar Association, 28 May 1983 edition. The arbitral tribunal shall be empowered to order the return or destruction of goods or any property, whether tangible or intangible, or of any confidential information provided under the Contract, order the termination of the Contract, or order that any other protective measures be taken with respect to the goods, services or any other property, whether tangible or intangible, or of any confidential information provided under the Contract, as appropriate, all in accordance with the authority of the arbitral tribunal pursuant to Article 26 ("Interim Measures of Protection") and Article 32 ("Form and Effect of the Award") of the UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules. The arbitral tribunal shall have no authority to award punitive damages. In addition, unless otherwise expressly provided in the Contract, the arbitral tribunal shall have no authority to award interest in excess of the London Inter-Bank Offered Rate ("LIBOR") then prevailing, and any such interest shall be simple interest only. The parties shall be bound by any arbitration award rendered as a result of such arbitration as the final adjudication of any such dispute, controversy or claim.

18. LIMITATION ON ACTIONS: Except with respect to any indemnification obligations in Article 9, above, or as are otherwise set forth in the Contract, any arbitral proceedings in accordance with Article 17, above, arising out of the Contract must be commenced within three (3) years after the cause of action has accrued.

The Parties further acknowledge and agree that, for these purposes, a cause of action shall accrue when the breach actually occurs, or, in the case of latent defects, when the injured Party knew or should have known all of the essential elements of the cause of action, or in the case of a breach of warranty, when tender of delivery is made, except that, if a warranty extends to future performance of the goods or any process or system and the discovery of the breach consequently must await the time when such goods or other process or system is ready to perform in accordance with the requirements of the Contract, the cause of action accrues when such time of future performance actually begins.

19. PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES: Nothing in or relating to the Contract shall be deemed a waiver, express or implied, of any of the privileges and immunities of the United Nations, including its subsidiary organs.
