Provision of Workforce and Staffing Services for Landscape Personnel for UNDP's Good Growth Partnership (GGP) Programme

I. BACKGROUND

The rapid growth of palm oil production globally has largely come at the expense of forested areas. Indonesia, as one of the world's largest producers of palm oil, has received much attention in recent years particularly from the global community concerning the sustainability of its palm oil production. For example, oil palm expansion caused one-quarter of all deforestation in Indonesia between 2009 and 2011 (Greenpeace 2013). Fifty-six per cent of the oil palm plantations in Indonesia have replaced forests (Koh & Wilcove 2008), most significantly in the provinces of North Sumatra, Riau and Jambi, and the south-western borders of Kalimantan (Romijn et al. 2013). Continued deforestation adds significant environmental pressures on ecologically sensitive areas, with extensive impacts on biodiversity, habitat fragmentation, land degradation and soil erosion.

To address the concern of the international community, the Government of Indonesia (GoI) has taken steps towards building a greener economy that promotes growth, equity, improved livelihood and environmental integrity including in the palm oil sector. Aiming to support the government's actions, UNDP has been working together with the Indonesian Ministry of Agriculture to achieve the country's goals of sustainable palm oil production through the Sustainable Palm Oil Initiative (SPOI). The objective of the project is to promote the sustainable production and use of palm oil by (i) assisting smallholders to produce palm oil sustainably and (ii) strengthening the Indonesia Sustainable Palm Oil (ISPO) scheme while minimizing adverse environmental and social impacts. The project will improve the sustainability of the Indonesian palm oil sector, by working with the Indonesian government and focusing on four key components or work streams. This includes:

- 1) Support smallholder farmers via the creation of sustainable farmers support systems that will enhance their engagement, their organization and governance (through Farmers Groups) and their adoption of good agricultural practices;
- 2) Enhance dialogues, build consensus and reduce conflict related to palm oil production, and create more effective policy enabling environments;
- 3) Collaborate with the government to improve environmental monitoring and management; and
- 4) Strengthen the national palm oil ISPO standard and increase market access.

In 2017, the SPOI received additional funding to work on activities that contribute to the above work streams. The funding comes from the Global Environment Facility (GEF) through a project named Reducing Deforestation from Commodity Production under a programme umbrella – Good Growth Partnership (GGP).

To support the GoI's efforts to pursue sustainable palm oil development, the SPOI will implement several pilot activities that will contribute to the National Action Plan (NAP) implementation. These work streams comprise of: (1) Smallholder Support Strategies for Government and Smallholder Capacity Building, (2) Environment Management and Monitoring, (3) Dialogues, consensus and policy strengthening, (4) ISPO and market access.

The Component 2 of the project specifically focuses on improving the sub-national farmer support systems to encourage sustainable, reduced deforestation commodity production and intensification through the adoption of farmer support strategies emphasizing reduced deforestation, sustainable intensification, biodiversity conservation and awareness of gender differences that exist in rural agricultural production. The key areas of support will include:

- (i) Smallholder mapping, legality and baseline assessments;
- (ii) Establishment of demonstration plots;
- (iii) Targeted training support to smallholders for more sustainable production; and
- (iv) Support to smallholder legality and ISPO/RSPO readiness.

Understanding that the support and facilitation related to farmer extension services at the target landscape (i.e. Pelalawan District) are vital for an effective implementation of activities under Component 2 of the project, UNDP needs to employ 8 (eight) Field Extension Service Assistants, 1 (one) Agronomist Assistant, and 1 (one) Field Coordinator. These personnel will be based in Pelalawan District of Riau Province, and will be directly report and be evaluated by the SPOI Implementation Adviser through Indonesia GGP Specialist. They are also expected to work closely with the field representatives from the International Finance Corporation and partner company(s) to implement the training activities.

Meanwhile, the Component 1 of the project, which aims to enhance dialogues, build consensus and reduce conflict related to palm oil production, and create more effective policy enabling environments, will necessitate the hiring of:

- 1 (one) Riau Provincial Platform Specialist who will be based in Pekanbaru
- 1 (one) North Sumatera Provincial Platform Specialist who will be based in Medan, and
- 1 (one) West Kalimantan Provincial Platform Specialist who will be based in Pontianak.
