Supply and installation of Hydrometeorological whether stations including construction of masts in Armavir, Aragatsotn, Ararat, Shirak, Lori and Vayots Dzor regions

INTRODUCTION

UNDP implementing "Increase Resilience of Armenia to Climate Change through Modernization of Armenia's Hydrometeorological Service" funded by Russian Federation UNDP Trust Fund for Development.

In the frame of the project the technical and professional capacities of the AHS will be developed to ensure adequate forecast and warning services for contributing to climate resilient development.

A substantial modernization program for the National Meteorology and Hydrology Service shall include three components, namely:

- (i) institutional strengthening and capacity building;
- (ii) modernization of observation, Information Communication Technologies (ICT) and forecasting infrastructure; and
- (iii) enhancement of service delivery system.

General Objective

The overall goal of the proposed project is to improve climate change adaptation planning and programming in Armenia through enhancing the capacity of national hydro-meteorological observation and warning services, for strengthening Armenia's resilience to Climate Change risks.

The project focus on strengthening the technical and professional capacities of the Armenia Hydrometeorological Service (AHS) to ensure adequate forecast and warning services for contributing to climate resilient development. A substantial modernization program for the Armenia Hydrometeorological Service will include three directions.

Scope of work

Within the project the rehabilitation of high priority meteorological observing stations; expansion and upgrading of the surface meteorological network: Automatic Weather Stations, standard equipment, power supply, telecoms for field stations needs to be acquired and installed.

In Aragatsotn, Armavir, Ararat, Lori, Shirak and Vayots Dzor marzes, 23 meteorological stations should be re-equipped and digitalized, based on the priory conducted assessments. All hydrometeorological stations must be integrated in one data visualization and management software, which will enable to observe, collect and send unified, near real time information and forecast on the hazards. The newly established stations will be synchronized with the existing meters, to ensure the sustainability and accuracy of generated information flow. The professional capacities of staff, both women and men, will be increased to ensure effective maintenance of acquired equipment. In this regard the works will consist of three parts:

- 1. Procurement and installation of Automatic Weather Stations, (see Technical Specifications)
- 2. Construction and Installation of Masts to hold the Stations (see SoW and BoQ attached separately).
- 3. Development of integrated data visualization and management software (see Terms of Reference 3)

Taking into account the diverse works to be completed and their specificity, during the procurement process the bidding companies may bid for conducting all 3 tasks (with provision of all required documents and certificates) or bid by using sub-contracting modalities with qualified organizations that have relevant construction registration and licenses or in a consortium. It is very important that all works are led by the same bidding organization and conducted in mutual coordination taking into consideration that any errors related to mast construction, location etc., will have their negative impact on data accuracy and meteorological data processing. Also, the unified software must be developed taking into account the parameters of the weather-stations and data collection-analysis requirements.

Scope of training, on Operation and Maintenance

Organization and provision of theoretical and practical training with Hydromet staff aimed at utilization and service of the stations and software. Capacity building process and advance technology utilization training will strengthen the capacity of specialists to be able to proceed with collection of hydrometeorological data from the weather stations with possibilities for calibration of data.

Technical training including at least; basic meteorology & ICT, maintenance and operation of newly acquired equipment, ICT, data processing, analysis & management. should be developed and organized in partnership with Hydromet experts and other relevant institutions.

This should include enhanced capacities of the staff, both women and men, to operate modern observing networks and use of modern tools for weather and hydrological forecasting. The professional capacities of staff, both women and men, should be increased to ensure effective maintenance of acquired equipment.

Qualifications requirements to hardware and software supplier:

- Minimum 5 years of experience in supply, installation and further service maintenance of weather stations –
- Minimum 5 year of experience in development and installation of multifaceted software solutions and technical support in electronic management systems –
- Successful experience of the introduction of at least 2 electronic management systems in the area of government/company administration over the past 2 years –;

Key personnel requirements:

- Team Leader, Minimum 5 years of professional experience, with at list 3 years of experience in the managerial position for complex ICT Programmes OR in a senior ICT management position in public or private sector. At least one project of similar nature and complexity as a team leader,
- At least 1 software engineer with experience of a minimum of 5 years in the design and development of electronic management systems.
- At least one weather station specialist with experience of minimum 3 years in installation and provision of trainings/lectures.

Qualifications requirements to construction company to be subcontracted:

- At least five year of construction experience
- At least 2 similar nature and complexity works conducted in last 3 years
- Construction licenses General construction and Electrical maintenance

SCOPE OF WORKS

AND TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF 10 METER MAST WEATHER STATION

The mast for installation of ground-based weather station equipment should be 10 meters height, consisting of 2 main parts, tripod fixed platform which has more than 2m height and upper moving stake. Station equipment is installed on two parts of the Mast. The upper part of the mast is connected with the lower part with cylindrical joint and in a vertical position it's fixed with steel ropes system. Such structure allows to operate the station without the use of additional lifting equipment, to move the stake from the horizontal position to the vertical position and vice versa, making maintenance of the installed equipment easier. To change the position of stake, two of the ropes should be switched off and manually make the mechanical winch work, which is included in the structure of the construction. The solar panel, wind power generator and boxes of information transmitters from electrical feeding and measuring devices are being attached to the non-moving part of the mast. Lightning rod should be installed on the mast. Round and rectangular steel tubes are used in the construction (diameter 48mm, 40×40×3mm, 40×20×2,5mm, 60×30×3 etc.).

Steel ropes should be galvanized, and all other parts of the structure are painted by powder technology (powder painting) .

The splitting parts of construction in mass and sizes are adopted for easy transportation to impassable and upper high places. The construction in durability and anti-corrosion properties is designed for long-term use. Mast is capable of working in the temperature from -40oC to +60oC, wind speed up to 40m/s, humidity 100% in the temperature of 25oC and in fatal buildup of ice, air dustiness by 80g/m3 and in ice-cold conditions, as well as the mast is provided with drainage. For station maintenance it has six session, 2m height metallic fence with handle. The latter is fixed through a layer of concrete granite .

- 1. The construction of the Mast should be constructed and installed with consideration of the following equipment:
- ✓ Electric cabinet with IP55 degree of protection for placing in it a hybrid charge controller for Solar panel and a wind generator (optional), AGM (gel) battery with a minimum capacity of 65Ah, GSM 4G/3G/2G router, data logger of weather station
- ✓ Two surveillance cameras monitoring the amount of snowfall with the ability to transfer images every hour.
- ✓ Solar panel with a capacity of at least 150 Watts
- ✓ Wind generator with a capacity of at least 200 Watts
- ✓ Sensor kit of weather station
- 2. Mast must be workable in the altitude of 4000m, in the temperature from -40oC to +60oC, wind speed of 50m/s, air dustiness by 50g/m3, humidity 100% in the temperature of 25oC and in fatal buildup of ice.
- 3. Separate components of the Mast shouldn't weight above 20kg and shouldn't be longer than 2.5m for a comfortable transportation in the mountainous regions.
- 4. Main material of construction:

- ✓ Steel pipes of circle and rectangle shape and cable with covering providing expiration date service of not less than 20 years. The pipes should have width of 3mm in a square shape, diameter not less than 48mm in square shape and 40×40 in cubical shape. Covering of all construction must be done with powder painting technology using furnaces polymerization.
- 5. The construction should provide convenient access to all devices without the use of special lifting equipment, based on which the Mast should consist of two main parts
- ✓ Fixed base with three supports, which rests on the ground surface and is fastened fixedly. A solar panel, an electrical cabinet, a mechanism providing folding and lifting of the top of the mast and steel ropes of fastening elements are installed on it.
- ✓ The upper part on which is mounted the sensor of the speed and direction of the wind and lightning pin. The construction of the upper part allows it to be stacked relatively fixed base, providing ease of exploitation (replacement, installation of sensors etc.)
- 6. The Mast should be secured from lightning.
- 7. Depending on the place of the installation of the Mast, the construction set can be added with fences with the height not less than 2m.

The detailed BoQ is attached separately.

TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT

The software a complete, mature remote monitoring system for water distribution system operators. This automated system for collecting, archiving, analysing, viewing, reporting and sharing data from Automatic Weather Stations (AWS). Key benefits of the system include:

- · remote real time and historic data
- a common data platform for all distribution system parameters
- alarm notification and alarm forwarding management
- choice of communication technologies
- battery, solar or line powered remote site RTUs and data loggers
- system scalability
- automated operation
- open database for 3rd party sharing
- low procurement, installation and lifetime operating cost of ownership.

REMOTE COMMUNICATION

remote communication options include:

- GSM
- ethernet
- LoRa WAN

Remote data logger data is automatically transferred to the user's host computer or DHS (Data Hosting Service) cloud application at a schedule defined by the user or in response to alarm conditions.

COLLECTED DATA

All collected data needs to be stored in an SQL database along with the data logger's configuration parameters. Stored data should be:

- displayed or printed in graphical or spreadsheet presentations
- exported in a variety of formats to 3rd party applications, e.g. SCADA, modelling, Asset Management, etc.
- processed by an analytics application to produce user alerts
- shared via website access over the user's intranet or the Internet.

USER HOSTED OR CLOUD SERVICE

The software host application needs to be developed and available to users as a licensed, maintenance supported application that can run on the user's network, or the user may choose to use DHS which is a cloud solution that operates Enterprise in a commercial data centre. System should provide a single supplier solution for the collection and integration of information using different models of Automatic Weather Stations. It should eliminate the need and inefficiencies of procuring and maintaining multiple vendor monitoring systems and data management application products. It should provide real-time information and alarms, as well as historical data, from remote sensors, instruments and analysing systems. This solution should allow you to collect, manage, archive and share information throughout the organization. Data from all remote sites reside on a common platform, setting a new standard for accessibility and usefulness of the collected information.

The software also should have below mentioned fields and functions

Data Collection - AWS field interface smoothly with any manufacturer's AWS and instruments.

Data Transfer - Transferring data to the host computer regularly and automatically.

Manage Data – Collecting data, visualize, generate reports and archive data.

Data Sharing - Share data internally via intranet or the Internet through the web browser to view both tabular and graphical data.

SQL DATABASE

Software should provide support for My SQL Server.

A SQL relational database should provide a number of advantages to users including unlimited database size, increased operational speed for producing graphical and numeric reports.

DATA ANALYSIS MODULE

Software includes a Data Analysis Module to assist the operator in managing and analysing data from remote AWS.

Software should not permit the user to edit any original data measurements provided from remote AWS. All edited values should be produced by direct user entries or automatically produced by defined calculations and therefore may be removed or changed by the user at a future date. Maintaining the original raw data should provide data integrity and ensure that no data is lost or corrupted by user action.

WEBSITE DATA ACCESS

Software should also provide web module that permits sharing the following information to authorized users, via corporate intranet or Internet using web browsers:

- access to historic data
- presentation of numerous parameters in one graphic presentation
- powerful graphic manipulation tools including active cursor, zoom and pan tools, and calendar selections (daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly, annually or custom times)
- numerical spreadsheet reports are exportable in a variety of formats and time periods
- site status information, including recorder battery capacity, up-time report, sample rate, call schedule, calibration data, physical parameters, etc.

Data provided by the software web module should be only for reading; the user has no access and therefore can't modify the database or any operational system configurations. A client access control utility needs to be included with software that permits the system administrator to control data content to authorized parties by user name and password. Client access control permits should have different permission levels.

Additional requirements:

• The software shall assure compatibility with various operating systems (iOS, Windows) and web browsers (Chrome, Firefox, IE, Safari). It should be mobile responsive.

- The portal shall have a content management system (CMS) to modify the webparts of the soft.
- Software should have 3 languages (Armenian, English and Russian).
- Software should have user friendly search system.
- Daily automatic backup shall be made to restore the website with the use of backup in case of technical problems and to make sure the uninterrupted operation of the soft.
- The hosting shall ensure 99% of uninterrupted operation.
- The developer shall train corresponding staff members. After final hand over and acceptance of works, the developer shall provide 1-year warranty servicing of the portal
