Piloting Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) standards for two companies

1. Background

Youth unemployment, under-employment and informality impose heavy costs on the Albanian society and economy. Long unemployment spells early in life and extended periods in the informal economy affect the prospects of young people to secure a career job, a decent wage, their future and that of their families. High percentages of unemployed youth mean that investments in education and training are wasted, that there is a reduced taxation base and higher welfare costs.

The overall objective of the project will be achieved through four strategic components:

1. Youth employment is a priority in the regional development strategies
2. Incidence of informal and low-productivity jobs is reduced through innovative programmes targeting disadvantaged youth at risk of labour market exclusion
3. The employability and income generating potential enhanced through active labour market measures implemented under a public private partnership framework
4. An enabling environment for youth employment, as part of the larger corporate social responsibility agenda, is promoted by relevant stakeholders

The fourth component of the project is set in the context of the emerging need for Albanian enterprises to exercise a higher degree of commitment to CSR in order to contribute to decent employment and as an added factor of competitiveness. Companies that recruit, train, and retain a quality, skilled and satisfied workforce, as well as build meaningful community partnerships, are more likely to survive and prosper in the medium to long term. The private sector jointly with governmental structures share a responsibility in ensuring that the employment opportunities offered are productive, deliver a fair income, security in the workplace and social protection for families, better prospects for personal development and social integration, freedom for people to express their concerns, organize and participate in the decisions that affect their lives and equality of opportunity and treatment for all women and men.

The promotion of corporate social responsibility principles with a particular focus on decent employment and capacity building at all levels are at the center of this component. At the macro level, the project contributes to the efforts of the Ministry of Economy to create an enabling environment for the adoption of corporate social responsibility practices in companies operating in Albania, through ongoing, open and inclusive dialogue with all stakeholders. At the meso level, the capacity of the private sector intermediaries on corporate social responsibility is targeted. At the micro level, two selected companies in priority sectors will be given support to integrate CSR standards into their business operations. Provided that project interventions are focused in the regions of Shkodra, Kukes and Lezha, it is envisioned that the pilots will be implemented in these localities.

2. The CSR context

In the context of Albania's future accession into the EU, the implementation of CSR standards becomes even more relevant as it can serve as a means to added competitiveness of Albanian businesses both regionally and at the wider European market. To create an enabling environment for the promotion of CSR, the Government of Albania with the leadership of the Ministry of Economic Development, Trade and Entrepreneurship (MEDTE), with the support of UNDP, has developed a National Action Plan on CSR. The latter was drafted in early 2011 and was finalized by the end of the year, following consultations with key stakeholders. UNDP's support for the promotion of the CSR agenda in Albania has been aligned to the priorities and activities outlined in the National Action Plan.

3. Scope of Work

Current UNDP support to the implementation of the National Action Plan on CSR comes in the frame of the "Local Level Responses to the Youth Employment Challenge" project. In line with the goals of the Government of Albania, building the capacities of the private sector on CSR is a priority. This entails the development of CSR implementation / assessment guides that would raise awareness and help companies identify their social, environmental and economic impacts, and avoid or mitigate the negatives ones.

At the micro level the interventions recognize that different industries and sectors face different challenges and aspects of CSR implementation (for example extractive industries – environmental issues, occupational health and safety; labour intensive export-oriented industries – social standards). Seeking more effective implementation of CSR principles, the development of a practical assessment guide for companies is foreseen. It is assumed that once equipped with methodological guidelines and tools on how to assess their impact, businesses will be better prepared to implement CSR principles and/or improve their CSR performance.

In this respect, the Contractor is tasked with the following:

- Organize meetings in Kukes, Lezha and Shkodra to identify two pilot companies that will be given technical support to integrate CSR standards into their every-day business operations. The economic activity of the companies should fall under one of the priority sectors (apparel and footwear, tourism and agriculture).
- Assess company operations and economic activity and establish an assessment baseline for both companies, including mapping of social, environmental and economic impacts. In addition, the baseline assessment should contain a mapping of the main stakeholders.
- Given the outcomes of the baseline assessment, prepare and submit to UNDP a time bound implementation plan that reflects the interventions at company level.
- Prepare one assessment guide that will enable the business management to continually assess and improve their performance towards Corporate Social Responsibility standards.
- Based on the company's assessment identify specific interventions and actions that pave the way for CSR implementation.

- Monitor and report on the benefits deriving from these interventions.

4. Deliverables

Under the direct supervision and guidance of the UNDP National Project Officer on Corporate Social Responsibility and in collaboration with the project team and implementing partners, the service provider is expected to deliver the following:

- Identification of two pilot companies in priority sectors in the regions of Shkodra, Lezha and Kukes;
- Mapping of company's social, environmental and economic impact;
- Mapping of company's stakeholder;
- Develop one CSR Assessment Guide;
- Prepare and develop an Action Plan based on the outcome of the baseline set by the CSR Assessment Guide;
- Monitoring report that reflects the benefits achieved by the company by applying the CSR Assessment Guide and integrating CSR actions.
