TERM OF REFERENCE

A. Project Title

Communication and Outreach Services for Data Crowdsourcing of Jakarta's Street Food.

B. Project Description

Pulse Lab Jakarta (PLJ), a joint programme between Government of Indonesia and United Nations, as an innovation lab using big data and innovation, has partnered with the Jakarta Provincial Government, along with Hivos, in hosting Hackathon Jakarta 2015 (#HACKJAK2015). This includes a series of events to develop applications, design visual graphics and identify new ways of sourcing data that could potentially feed into Jakarta's Smart City initiative.

Pulse Lab Jakarta's contribution to HackJak2015 will be the collection of comprehensive data on street food in DKI Jakarta, recommended by citizens through social media. Pulse Lab needs to collect data on the name of street food stalls, their geo-location, and pictures of the street food stall. This data will be fed into the Jakarta Smart City platform as part of mapping the city's wider culinary attractions.

Pulse Lab Jakarta wishes to procure communication and outreach services for this data crowdsourcing activity. These services are needed to design and run a campaign that encourages Jakarta citizens to post on social media geo-tagged and labelled pictures of street food that they recommend.

The selected vendor will provide the following services:

1. Design a campaign for crowdsourcing data on Jakarta's street food on social media;
2. Manage the implementation of the campaign for data crowdsourcing;
3. Report on the implementation of the campaign for data crowdsourcing.

C. Scope of Work

The selected vendor will conduct a communications campaign to crowdsource data on street food in DKI Jakarta. Specifically, the vendor will design the communications campaign, deliver the communications campaign and provide a report.

1. Design and deliver a communications campaign for crowdsourcing data on Jakarta's street food on social media

Campaign strategy, materials, incentives and implementation plan developed in order to encourage as many Jakarta citizens as possible to post labels and geo-tagged images of their recommended street food on social media.

Upon approval of the campaign design by Pulse Lab Jakarta, the selected vendor will implement the campaign for data crowdsourcing of Jakarta's street food. The selected vendor will be responsible for ensuring activities are implemented on time and on budget. It is also responsible for ensuring the quality of the campaign materials, the appropriate targeting for these materials, and the effectiveness of the overall approach. To incentivise people to participate, prizes could be awarded to the most prolific data collectors - data points will need to be verified and will have to cover different points of interest.

2. Report on the implementation of the communications campaign

After the conclusion of the campaign, the selected vendor will provide a written report to Pulse Lab Jakarta on the result of the activities. This includes, but is not limited to, a network analysis of responses received; information on which online communities generated the most responses; and an assessment of the effectiveness of the various approaches and tools used in the campaign. The report should also include a visualisation of the geographic distribution of tweets captured during the campaign.

D. Expected Outputs and Deliverables

The outputs from the selected vendor are:

1. Design of the communications campaign, submitted as part of the application;
2. At least 5,000 data points shared by unique users on social media;
3. An additional 5,000 data points shared by users on social media;
4. Report on implementation of data crowdsourcing campaign, incl. visualisation of tweets distribution.

The above-mentioned report should be submitted in English. The report will be reviewed and approved by Pulse Lab Jakarta.

E. Institutional Arrangement
