Description of Requirements

Context of the Requirement	The UNDP Myanmar Country Programme Action Plan (CPAP) 2013-2017 was signed between the Government of Myanmar and UNDP in 2013. It is UNDP's first fully-fledged country programme following the lifting of restrictions for programme implementation in Myanmar by the agency's Executive Board. The CPAP marked UNDP's entrance into new and more traditional UNDP programme areas, where previously, programming was largely focused on community development, through a large-scale project called the 'Human Development Initiative' (HDI). The UNDP CPAP 2013-2017 is comprised of 3 programme pillars, namely: 1. Effective & responsive local governance for sustainable, inclusive community development (Pillar 1); 2. Climate change, environmental protection, access to energy & disaster risk reduction (Pillar 2) and Democratic governance and development effectiveness (Pillar 3). These Pillars in turn further sub-divide into 4-5 Output-based programme interventions. UNDP Myanmar's Improved Livelihoods and Social Cohesion Programme (Pillar 1, Output 5) aims to increased capacities of target communities and institutions for social cohesion, sustainable livelihoods, and improve opportunities for peace. In order to meet this aim, the Output targets ceasefire and high-poverty areas in Rakhine, Kachin, Kayah, Kayin, Shan, Chin and Mon; uses livelihoods as an entry-point to improve community social cohesion; supports capacities for social cohesion and peacebuilding of government, non-state actors (NSAs) and civil society organizations (CSOs); and facilitates early recovery coordination. Output 5 is directly implemented by UNDP through a team of UNDP staff both in Yangon and in the relevant states. At the national/union level, it works in close consultation with the Progress of Border Affairs and National Races Development Department (NaTaLa) of the Ministry of Border Affairs (MoBA) under the overall direction of its Output Board, comprising of government, contributing donors and UNDP. The Output collaborates with state and union government institutions, relevant technical departments, other UN agencies, international and national non-governmental organizations (I/N-NGOs), Community Based Organizations (CBOs) and members of the community. The Output works in partnership with CSOs, NGOs and INGOs. To-date, with respect to its village-based activities, Output 5 has reached upto 317 villages in 25 townships in the 07 above-mentioned states. Between 2013 and 2014, Output 5's primary focus was at village/community level. With significant financial resources and using a building-blocks approach, it delivered a package of social protection, income-generation, vocational training and infrastructure assistance to communities – combining this with strategies to bridge socio-economic divides and strengthen community networks and relations. From 2015 onwards, the Output undertook more focused downstream assistance activities, either piloting new interventions such as introducing affordable technologies through market-based approaches in 100 of the 317 villages, or responding to specific needs and demands in priority locations such as in Rakhine and Kachin. Also in 2015, the Output sharpened its focus for strengthening local capacities for social cohesion and peacebuilding, as a contribution to positioning UNDP in this area. From 2016, UNDP has made a decision that the Output will fully re-position itself to support capacity-development, knowledge-management and policy support for social cohesion and peacebuilding. This means that the Programme will complete ongoing village-level support activities, but not undertake new activities of this nature. These redirections are influenced

	both by what is perceptibly a shrinking resource envelope for UNDP's direct assistance programming as well as an increased interest for playing a more visible and direct role in support of the country's peace process and peacebuilding at large. Against this context, UNDP will undertake a mid-term evaluation of Output 5 and wishes to identify a Myanmar-based Consultancy Company, which can provide a 2-member Evaluation Team consisting of an international Team Leader and a national Evaluation Specialist to conduct the Mid-term Evaluation of Output 5, over duration of 20 working days between 1 July and 30 August 2016.
