Solid waste management baseline and quantifying solid waste generation in Cambodia

No	Questions	Answers
1	The work of the baseline design (definition of indicators and communication scheme between the actors) is already in place in all the 26 provinces under study and not one of the activity of the consultant?	No, it is part of the consultancy's tasks
2	The baseline data have been collected (if yes by whom and when) or if we have to organize a data collection process within the time allotted for this contract (see activity 1: Baseline data collection from all 25 provinces).	The service provider selected will be responsible for collecting the baseline data.
3	We also would like to know how many waste characterization campaign has been carried out in the last 2 years in Cambodia and if all of these reports are available? Could you also please confirm that we do not have to realize the characterization campaigns in cities where this activity would not have been carried out. (see Activity 2)	We do not really understand the question on the waste characterization campaign. However, if the question is on waste characterization data then UNDP will provide waste characterization data from previous study for organization to review and reprocess and the organization can use the data for waste generation study/estimation.
