	of subtotals, the subtotals shall prevail and the total shall be corrected; and c) if there is a discrepancy between words and figures, the amount in words shall prevail, unless the amount expressed in words is related to an arithmetic error, in which case the amount in figures shall prevail. 34.4 If the Bidder does not accept the correction of errors made by UNDP, its Proposal shall be rejected.
E. AWARD OF CONTRACT
35. Right to Accept, Reject, Any or All Proposals	35.1 UNDP reserves the right to accept or reject any Proposal, to render any or all of the Proposals as non-responsive, and to reject all Proposals at any time prior to award of contract, without incurring any liability, or obligation to inform the affected Bidder(s) of the grounds for UNDP's action. UNDP shall not be obliged to award the contract to the lowest priced offer.
36. Award Criteria	36.1 Prior to expiration of the proposal validity, UNDP shall award the contract to the qualified Bidder based on the award criteria indicated in the BDS.
37. Debriefing	37.1 In the event that a Bidder is unsuccessful, the Bidder may request a debriefing from UNDP. The purpose of the debriefing is to discuss the strengths and weaknesses of the Bidder's submission, in order to assist the Bidder in improving its future proposals for UNDP procurement opportunities. The content of other proposals and how they compare to the Bidder's submission shall not be discussed.
38. Right to Vary Requirements at the Time of Award	38.1 At the time of award of Contract, UNDP reserves the right to vary the quantity of services and/or goods, by up to a maximum twenty-five per cent (25%) of the total offer, without any change in the unit price or other terms and conditions.
39. Contract Signature	39.1 Within fifteen (15) days from the date of receipt of the Contract, the successful Bidder shall sign and date the Contract and return it to UNDP. Failure to do so may constitute sufficient grounds for the annulment of the award, and forfeiture of the Proposal Security, if any, and on which event, UNDP may award the Contract to the Second Ranked Bidder or call for new Proposals.
40. Contract Type and General Terms and Conditions	40.1 The types of Contract to be signed and the applicable UNDP Contract General Terms and Conditions, as specified in BDS, can be accessed at http://www.undp.org/content/undp/en/home/procurement/business/how-we-buy.html

Where a performance security is required, the receipt of the performance security by UNDP shall be a condition for rendering the contract effective.
42. Bank Guarantee for Advanced Payment	42.1 Except when the interests of UNDP so require, it is UNDP's preference to make no advance payment(s) (i.e., payments without having received any outputs). 44. Payment Provisions	44.1 Payment will be made only upon UNDP's acceptance of the work performed. The terms of payment shall be within thirty (30) days, after receipt of invoice and certification of acceptance of work issued by the proper authority in UNDP with direct supervision of the Contractor. Payment will be effected by bank transfer in the currency of contract.
45. Vendor Protest	45.1 UNDP's vendor protest procedure provides an opportunity for appeal to those persons or firms not awarded a contract through a competitive procurement process. In the event that a Bidder believes that it was not treated fairly, the following link provides further details regarding UNDP vendor protest procedures: http://www.undp.org/content/undp/en/home/operations/procurement/business/protest-and-sanctions.html

The UNDP General Terms and Conditions shall have precedence. 46.2 UNDP is entitled to receive the same pricing offered by the same Contractor in contracts with the United Nations and/or its Agencies. The UNDP General Terms and Conditions shall have precedence. 46.3 The United Nations has established restrictions on employment of (former) UN staff who have been involved in the procurement process as per bulletin ST/SGB/2006/15 http://www.un.org/en/ga/search/view_doc.asp?symbol=ST/SGB/2006/15&referer

Reclassification and Statements of management intent for existing protected areas in Papua New Guinea

Location:	Papua New Guinea
Type of Contract:	IC Professional Services (Firm)
Project:	Strengthening Management Effectiveness of Protected Areas in PNG
Duty Station:	Port Moresby
Languages Required:	English, Tok Pisin
Starting Date:	September
Duration of Initial Contract:	50 working weeks over a period of 24 months, including 30 working weeks in country

1. Project Background

PNG encompasses some of the world's last great tracts of mature tropical rainforest and coral reefs. These forest and marine ecosystems, combined with a unique array of species, have evolved in isolation making PNG one of the world's most important biodiversity hotspots. PNG's biodiversity and protected areas system is however under threat from logging, mining, pollution and the growing commercialization of agriculture. Compounding all of this is the looming threat of climate change.

The protected areas system in PNG has performed poorly for a number of years. A lack of political commitment, poor land use management and the interests of extractive industries pose major threats. Matters are complicated by a growing population often relying heavily on exploiting natural resources to sustain their livelihoods.

The Government of Papua New Guinea has however made a renewed commitment to support a viable and sustainable protected areas system in the country. In doing so, it has identified the need to work in partnership with communities, non-government organizations, the private sector and local levels of government to encourage stakeholders to more keenly appreciate the underlying socio-economic value of their surrounding ecosystem.

PNG's Protected Areas Policy (PAPs) approved by the National Executive Council in December 2014 and the Conservation and Environmental Protection Authority (CEPA) Act of May 2014 provides the overall policy and legal framework for the newly established CEPA. Both instruments are intended to give renewed impetus to conservation efforts and pose an excellent opportunity to improve biodiversity conservation in the broadest sense in PNG. Despite the renewed commitment, limited capacity remains a challenge and hampers implementation, compliance and enforcement.

The UNDP in partnership with the Government of PNG is currently working to address some of these challenges under the Strengthening the Management Effectiveness of the National System of Protected Areas Project (the 'Project'). This work is being delivered under three components.

The Project is designed to support PNG's commitment by helping operationalise PNG's Protected Area Policy as well as support the transition from the former Department of Environment and Conservation to CEPA. It further aims to strengthen the links between central government policy and implementation with newly established decentralized protected area governance and management structures. These 'bottom up' conservation initiatives are being established by communities, civil society and various levels of Government in key biodiversity areas throughout the country with the support of a range of partners, including the UNDP.

Under Component One of the Project, efforts are focused on supporting the Government oversee Protected Area Management by:

- a. Strengthening policies related to protected areas and biodiversity conservation.
- b. Building the capacity of CEPA to more effectively manage the national protected areas system.
- c. Working to build greater professionalism, through technical training and developing relevant competencies among key institutions.

1. Context: reclassification of existing protected areas

New types of protected areas are included in the PA Bill, which CEPA is pushing for Parliamentary approval in 2019.

In the transition period (for five years from enactment of the PA Act) there is an automatic recognition of all protected areas:

- National parks which were declared under the National Parks Act 1982 remain as national parks.
- Marine protected areas under the Fisheries Management Act 2004 become national marine sanctuaries.
- Memorial parks which were declared under the National Parks Act 1982 become national heritage sites.
- Provincial parks which were declared under the National Parks Act 1982, conservation areas under the Conservation Areas Act 1978, and wildlife management areas under the Fauna (Protection and Control) Act 1966 all become community conservation areas.
- Locally managed marine areas (LMMAs) were not recognised under any national legislation, but some have been officially declared under local level government or provincial legislation. All LMMAs recognised under any legislation or formal agreement will be considered as LMMAs under the new legislation. LMMAs that are not currently officially declared would have to be registered as new protected areas.
- Marine protected areas declared under the Maritime Zones Act are registered and recognised as marine protected areas by the PA Act, though this is not a specific PA type under the PA Act
- Any other kind of protected area under any legislation is also recognised by the PA Act.

Over the five-year period following the enactment, there should be a review of each protected area to investigate whether the protected area type into which the PA has been placed is most suitable. In some cases, there may not be a good 'fit' of the existing protected area to the new protected area type: for example, several existing national parks are small and do not have values worthy of this type of protected area. Existing large and significant conservation areas or wildlife management areas may be considered as national parks or special management areas to give a high level of protection to endangered fauna.

Changes to the type of protected area will require a process similar to the gazettal of a new protected area, but will be given special conservation and could be processed in a very short timeframe after the PA Act comes into force. The gazettal application process will require GIS expertise in order for land boundary surveys and GPS points. The CEPA Sustainable Environment Program has two GIS staff, who provide support to the gazettal process however there is need for additional GIS support to CEPA's staff to facilitate this process. The Protected Areas Registry in CEPA has been developed with support from GEF already.

Consideration of the most suitable protected area type will be based on a) its natural and cultural values b) the intended objectives for the protected area c) the wishes and aspirations of the customary landowners and d) the existing and intended use of the land or waters.

An additional product from this work will be simple statements of management intent for each protected area, which can be used as a basis for future management plans.

2. Key Tasks / Objectives:

This consultancy will assist CEPA, the local management committees² and the National and Regional Protected Area Round Tables to confirm or reclassify the protected area type of all areas, and in each protected area in PNG as recorded in the CEPA database: i.e. 59 protected areas plus the recorded locally managed protected area (66), marine protected areas (5 Marine PA's and 9 Marine/Terrestrial PA's) and selected proposed protected areas (8). The total number of areas to be reviewed is 65. Key tasks are to:

1. Review the size, values and threats for each protected area. This information is available for most protected areas through data and reports generated in PNG's management effectiveness study 2017³.
2. With the assistance of CEPA staff, organize and attend workshops for each protected area (one day per protected area should be allocated), to be attended by management committees, district and/or provincial staff, and other NGOs, customary landowners or community representatives as appropriate.
 - a. Management committees and other invitees should be given two months' notice of intended workshops.
 - b. One month before the workshop, detailed information should be sent to inform the management committee about the process for reclassification, and the options available to them.
 - c. At the workshops,
 - i. Values, threats and future directions and needs should be reviewed, taking into account the previous information obtained through the 2017 management effectiveness study, to provide information on which to base a statement of management intent. Additional information should also be provided and considered where available. There is need to include
 - ii. Options for reclassification should be considered and recommendations made.
3. Following the workshops, the consultants should produce a draft statement of management intent for each protected area using the methodology provided⁴, for review by the management committee and other members of the community.
4. After a four-week review period, any comments should be incorporated and a statement of management intent submitted by the consultants. (This may then be further reviewed and refined by the management committee as necessary).
5. Recommendations for each protected area's reclassification should be made with the support of the management committee.
6. Where further follow-up is required and/or where an argument for reclassification is to be made, the consultant will assist the management committee to prepare the relevant documentation. This may be needed for an estimated 20 protected areas, so an additional 60 days should be allocated to this follow-up work. This will include related GIS work updates to the PA Registry as well.
7. There are 7 Protected Area sites under the GEF 4 Project that were close to finalizing gazettal application but in need of gazettal & GIS support and these are Lake Lamu Auru, Klampun, Tavolo, Toimtop (application is with the CEPA), Arabam, Raigel & Maranagi. CEPA is well aware of these proposed Protected Areas and able to lead this process in terms of mediation and community consultations.

² Management committees in this document will also be taken to mean the Boards of Management for national protected areas.

³ The overall report is available from the UNDP website. Individual reports on each protected area are available on request

⁴ Methodology for the statements of management intent is based on the management planning methodology for PNG, an adaptation of the Healthy Country Planning.

8. Present the results of the work to CEPA and the National Protected Area Round Table (if interim as well).

5. Approximate Start Date: Third Quarter of 2019.

6. Duration: Approximately 50 working weeks over a period of 24 months, including 30 working weeks in country. This work might be divided among a team of 2-3 people. Approximately 30 weeks employment of an in-country local research assistant should also be included.

7. Reporting relationships: The international consultant will work with staff of the Sustainable Environment Programs (SEP) Wing under the leadership of Ms. Kumaras Kalim, Director. Reporting will be through the GEF 5 officer of UNDP.

8. Deliverables and Timing: The consultant will be responsible for the delivery, content, technical quality and accuracy of its own deliverables. However, the consultant will work closely with CEPA staff and the management committees of the protected areas. All deliverables shall be presented and submitted to CEPA and UNDP/
