Description of Requirements

Context of the Requirement	The landmine and explosive remnants of war (ERW) problem in Cambodia is the result of a series of internal and regional conflicts that affected the country from the mid-1960s until the end of 1998. The anti-personnel mine problem is concentrated, but not limited to, the north-western provinces bordering Thailand, and is one of the most densely contaminated regions in the world. Other parts of the country, mainly the east, are impacted by ERWs, including cluster munitions. The number of landmine and ERW accidents has been dropping, from 4,320 in 1996 to 58 in 2018. However, landmines and ERW continue to hinder national reconstruction and development as some 1,734 square kilometers remain impacted by the presence of landmines and ERW, including cluster munitions. Cambodia adopted a Sustainable Development Goal on landmines and explosive remnants of war – SDG 18: End the negative impact of mines/ERW and promote victim assistance. However, the Royal Government of Cambodia has a US$406 million shortfall in its aim to achieve the eight goals outlined in the Strategy, leading to Cambodia mine-free 2025. To raise these kinds of funds requires vast momentum and coalitions to be built on a global scale. The good news is that the UN family and the Royal Government are primed, ready and committed to begin building global awareness. Recently, the United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres launched the five-year Safe Ground campaign (2019 – 2023) on the 4 April 2019, the International Day for Mine Awareness and Assistance in Mine Action. The purpose of the Campaign, as he stated, is to raise awareness and resources for the victims and survivors of armed conflict through the promotion of sport and of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). In Cambodia, shortly after Secretary-General announced the Campaign, the UN Country Team was hosted by the Prime Minister and his Cabinet for their annual dialogue. During the discussion, the Prime Minister called on the UN Resident Coordinator and the UN Country Team (UNCT) to support Cambodia to raise global awareness efforts to achieve the mine free vision by 2025. To do this, the UNCT and Royal Government have agreed to launch the Safe Ground Campaign, turning minefields into playing fields by leveraging partnerships with Member States, donors, celebrities, civil society, sport federations and the private sector, to clear existing playing fields of explosive ordnances, and identify new areas that can become sports facilities. These reclaimed areas will bring communities together, to raise awareness about victims/survivors of war and act as a catalyst to raise the much-needed resources for the continued mine clearance. The video will give a global audience insight into the continued danger of landmines in Cambodia, and the impact on local communities. It will

	highlight the Safe Ground Campaign by bringing attention to survivors of armed conflict, and linking mine action, sport and the Sustainable Development Goals. The purpose of the campaign should be highlighted in the video, which is to develop safe facilities for people to practice sport, creating a sense of security through safe ground. These themes will be highlighted in the film and portrayed through the story of a young child from the selected village. Specifically, the video will tell the story of a young person (age 7-13) whose life has been affected by landmines. The protagonist will illustrate the threat landmines present to the community, and the positive effect of turning the unsafe ground into cleared playing fields for the community.

Assignment Title:	Communication Firm/Organization for Production of Communications Materials for Safe Ground Campaign
UNDP Practice Area:	Mine Action
Cluster/Project:	Clearing for Results Phase IV: Mine Action for Human Development
Assignment Location:	Phnom Penh, with possible travel to several locations in Cambodian provinces
Assignment Duration:	28 Days (18 November - 31 December 2019)

Background and Project Description:

The landmine and explosive remnants of war (ERW) problem in Cambodia is the result of a series of internal and regional conflicts that affected the country from the mid-1960s until the end of 1998. The anti-personnel mine problem is concentrated, but not limited to, the north-western provinces bordering Thailand, and is one of the most densely contaminated regions in the world. Other parts of the country, mainly the east, are impacted by ERWs, including cluster munitions.

The number of landmine and ERW accidents has been dropping, from 4,320 in 1996 to 58 in 2018. However, landmines and ERW continue to hinder national reconstruction and development as some 1,734 square kilometers remain impacted by the presence of landmines and ERW, including cluster munitions.

Cambodia adopted a Sustainable Development Goal on landmines and explosive remnants of war – SDG 18: End the negative impact of mines/ERW and promote victim assistance. However, the Royal Government of Cambodia has a US$406 million shortfall in its aim to achieve the eight goals outlined in the Strategy, leading to Cambodia mine-free 2025. To raise these kinds of funds requires vast momentum and coalitions to be built on a global scale.

The good news is that the UN family and the Royal Government are primed, ready and committed to begin building global awareness.

Recently, the United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres launched the five-year Safe Ground campaign (2019 – 2023) on the 4 April 2019, the International Day for Mine Awareness and Assistance in Mine Action. The purpose of the Campaign, as he stated, is to raise awareness and resources for the victims and survivors of armed conflict through the promotion of sport and of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). In Cambodia, shortly after Secretary-General announced the Campaign, the UN Country Team was hosted by the Prime Minister and his Cabinet for their annual dialogue. During the discussion, the Prime Minister called on the UN Resident Coordinator and the UN Country Team (UNCT) to support Cambodia to raise global awareness efforts to achieve the mine free vision by 2025.

To do this, the UNCT and Royal Government have agreed to launch the Safe Ground Campaign, turning minefields into playing fields by leveraging partnerships with Member States, donors, celebrities, civil society, sport federations and the private sector, to clear existing playing fields of explosive ordnances, and identify new areas that can become sports facilities. These reclaimed areas will bring communities together, to raise awareness about victims/survivors of war and act as a catalyst to raise the much-needed resources for the continued mine clearance.

The video will give a global audience insight into the continued danger of landmines in Cambodia, and the impact on local communities. It will highlight the Safe Ground Campaign by bringing attention to survivors of armed conflict, and linking mine action, sport and the Sustainable Development Goals. The purpose of the campaign should be highlighted in the video, which is to develop safe facilities for people to practice sport, creating a sense of security through safe ground. These themes will be highlighted in the film and portrayed through the story of a young child from the selected village.

Specifically, the video will tell the story of a young person (age 7-13) whose life has been affected by landmines. The protagonist will illustrate the threat landmines present to the community, and the positive effect of turning the unsafe ground into cleared playing fields for the community.

Objective of the Assignment

The purpose of the contract is to produce a short viral video (no longer than 140 seconds), highlighting mine action and the impact of mine and ERW on the lives of Cambodians. This video will be used to kick-off the Safe Ground Campaign and to raise global awareness for the continued efforts needed to support mine action in Cambodia. The selected Communication Firm/Organization will be also be responsible for the development of a related social-media strategy that will complement the release of the video.

Scope of Work

In close collaboration with UNDP and in cooperation with relevant partners, the service provider will develop a high-quality film highlighting mine action and the 'Safe Ground Campaign' in Cambodia.

- Develop communication strategy that will complement the release of the video to ensure the widest possible audience is reached;
- Undertake the filming, editing, and postproduction of the video;
- Finalize video after feedback from CMAA, UNDP Cambodia, and UN HQ if needed.

Methodology

Detailed methodology:

- The production of the video must be guided by a script that will describe the narration and flow of topics and action, the person to be featured, and accompanying footage and sound. The script will be developed by the service provider and discussed and agreed with UNDP.
- Creative combinations of footage, visual effects, image formats, licensed music, voices, and sounds are highly appreciated, as appropriate.
- There will be two versions of video: one in the English language except the original voices of Khmer characters (this is for global audience) and one in Khmer (for local audience). The video will include, where appropriate, Khmer or English subtitles.
- Written consent of persons who are filmed and/or photographed will be required and provided by the service provider, along with all other materials.
- Reference/logo of UNDP will be included in credits of the video material produced.
- All rights reserved. UNDP will be the copyright holder of video material, b-roll, licensed music, and pictures produced/used in the video production, although further uses by other partners may be authorized after consultation and agreement by UNDP.
- The video produced and approved by UNDP is intended to target public audiences not only in Cambodia, but on a global scale. This video will be widely disseminated, so any citizen, institution or organization will be encouraged to disseminate the video through their personal or corporate communication and social media channels.
