1. BACKGROUND

The Democratic Republic of São Tomé and Príncipe (STP) is a Small Island Developing State off the coast of Gabon. STP is a Least Developed Country with a small economy and about half or more of the population living below the poverty line (40-70% depending on the source). In 2017, the country’s GDP was USD 393 million (USD 686 million PPP) and its GDP/capita USD 3,200 PPP. Agriculture accounts for a significant share of employment on STP, 26% to 60%

Despite STP’s small size, the islands’ tropical climate and relief as well as their geographical location and the isolation from the African continent have given rise to a remarkable wealth in terms of ecosystems and biodiversity. Sometimes referred to as the "Galapagos of Africa", STP is classified amongst the countries with the highest levels of endemic species in the world (RDSTP, 2014), mainly birds, amphibians, plants, bats, reptiles, butterflies and molluscs distributed in different terrestrial and marine ecosystems and habitats (Vaz & Oliveira, 2007).

STP has committed to preserve its unique natural heritage. The island of Príncipe has an ambitious sustainability Vision 2030 and successfully pushed to be designated as a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve. The islands’ offer considerable potential for further development of tourism, and the Government has taken steps to expand tourist facilities in recent years. The development challenge for the islands is how to reconcile the different streams of development objectives and investments, most of which depend on natural resources and ecosystem services and/or will have negative impacts on these.

The project aims to “Safeguard globally significant terrestrial biodiversity and ecosystems services by strengthening national capacities and frameworks for biodiversity and natural resource management, integrated land use planning and environmental law enforcement as well as enhancing protected area management and the sustainability of charcoal production” through the implementation of four project components: Now the project is looking for an experienced consultant to make a human rights risks assessment of its components 1. Environmental law enforcement, 2. strengthening of protected area management and 3. work on sustainable charcoal.

2. SCOPE OF WORK, RESPONSIBILITIES AND DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPOSED ANALYTICAL WORK

UNDP seeks the services of a consultant with experience in the rights of forest dependent communities. The consultant is to undertake a targeted assessment, with support from national counterparts, to describe and quantify the risk of infringement of human rights to local populations. This is to ensure that the project’s actions under Components 1 to 3 are in compliance with Principle 1 Human Rights under UNDP’s Social and Environmental Standards (SES).

The assignment will include at least one extended mission with extensive field visits on both São Tomé and Príncipe Islands. Mission dates will need to be agreed in advance with UNDP (Country Office, Regional Technical Advisor) and counterparts from the Governments of São Tomé and Príncipe.

The focus will be on ensuring that the project’s actions comply with UNDP’s Social and Environmental Screening Procedure (SESP). The scope of the assessment must consider all potential sources of human rights infringements. Especially the work on environmental law enforcement under project component 1, the strengthening of protected area management under component 2, and the work on sustainable charcoal under component 3.

The consultant will work closely with UNDP (Country Office, Regional Technical Advisor) and counterparts from the Government as well as with the Expert for Charcoal Value Chain Analysis and Economic Displacement Risk Assessment (see separate TORs) to produce the following outputs and related activities.

Output 1: Human Rights Risk Assessment

- Undertake a targeted assessment to identify the risk-based applicability of Principle 1 Human Rights of the SES Overarching Principles
Identify and describe actions that could potentially violate human rights and also determine the risk level (high/medium/low)
- Prepare an assessment report to be used as the basis for the Human Rights Action Plan (below)

Output 2: Human Rights Action Plan

- Identify the procedures and actions that need to be undertaken in order to ensure that human rights are not violated by project actions
- Prepare a Human Rights Action Plan that reflects the commitment by the Implementing Partner and UNDP to affected people and communities to respect their human rights
- Support the mandatory disclosure process for the draft human rights action plan
- Finalize the action plan based on feedback received during the disclosure period
- Train and advise PMU on the implementation of the action plan

Payments are based upon output, i.e. upon delivery of the services specified in the TOR. In order to assist the requesting unit in the comparison of financial proposals, the financial proposal will include a breakdown of this lump sum amount (including travel, per diems, and number of anticipated working days).

Travel:

All envisaged travel costs must be included in the financial proposal. This includes all travel to join duty station/repatriation travel. In general, UNDP should not accept travel costs exceeding those of an economy class ticket. Should the IC wish to travel on a higher class he/she should do so using their own resources.

In the case of unforeseeable travel, payment of travel costs including tickets, lodging and terminal expenses should be agreed upon, between the respective business unit and Individual Consultant, prior to travel and will be reimbursed
