TERM OF REFERENCE1. BACKGROUND

UNODC launched the Global Integrity Education project, which will be implemented in Pakistan, Kenya and Mexico, on 1 October 2019. Through this project, UNODC seeks to establish and implement an effective integrity education programme that fosters ethical decision-making in private sector employees and empowers them to serve as “ethics ambassadors” in companies. The ultimate goal of this project is to foster ethical decision-making in the private sector by equipping young graduates with ethical mindsets and skills at the start of their careers. The project will also increase ethical commitment in the private sector by involving business managers in localizing education materials for universities and adapting the materials to create on-the-job ethics courses that fit the work environments of industries that are vulnerable to corruption (e.g. law firm, banks). It thus utilizes both bottom-up and top-down approaches for the highest impact. Significantly, the project will establish a link between university education and practical training, ensuring that ethics education is an ongoing process that continues to impact students from the formation to the career stage. Built-in impact studies aimed at monitoring, evaluating and learning (MEL) will be implemented throughout the life of the project to ensure the highest impact of the modules on student and alumni attitudes, behaviours and decision-making capacity.

UNODC started to address the lack of effective integrity education in many countries by developing teaching modules that address core integrity issues such as ethical leadership, strategies for ethical actions, corruption and human rights, gender diversity, and integrity in media, business and law. Over 100 professors from around the world helped develop the modules, which reflect global needs and values and are linked to the Sustainable Development Goals.

To generate the impact sought, the Global Integrity Education project brings together local academics and private sector actors to adapt the modules to local and industry contexts and to enrich them with case studies of actual integrity challenges in specific industries in Pakistan, Kenya and Mexico. The new localized modules will be then introduced in undergraduate courses taken by students who are expected to join the private sector. The modules will help students develop the mindsets and skills necessary for overcoming ethical challenges in their future workplace while also strengthening “employability skills” such as communication, teamwork, creativity, critical thinking, and problem solving through value-driven action.

The first year of the project involves (1) creating the contextualized materials that will form the basis of the project’s integrity education Programme in university and companies, and (2) organizing and delivering Training of Trainers (ToT) workshops to build the capacity of university lecturers to teach the contextualized materials effectively. To implement this plan, UNODC has established local working groups in each of the three project countries. The working groups are composed of key business managers and academics who work with UNODC to contextualize the existing UNODC education materials and set the stage for the ToT workshops.

In this context, UNODC is seeking to engage a consultant as the ‘Working Group Leader’ for the Pakistan Working Group. The consultant will coordinate the said working group to ensure that it carries out its tasks effectively and in a timely manner and will support UNODC in implementing the follow up training and MEL activities.

Under the overall guidance of the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Officer (CEB) and Advisor Criminal Justice (UNODC Country office Pakistan), the consultant will receive guidance from UNODC and will be required to report on their progress and outcomes, as elaborated below. The consultant will also work in coordination with other UNODC staff and consultants as necessary.

Accordingly, nothing within or relating to the Contract shall establish the relationship of employer and employee, or of principal and agent, between UNDP and the Individual contractor. The officials, representatives, employees or subcontractors of UNDP and of the Individual contractor, if any, shall not be considered in any respect as being the employees or agents of the other, and UNDP and the Individual contractor shall be solely responsible for all claims arising out of or relating to its engagement of such persons or entities.

2. STANDARDS OF CONDUCT: In General: The Individual contractor shall neither seek nor accept instructions from any authority external to UNDP in connection with the performance of its obligations under the Contract. Should any authority external to UNDP seek to impose any instructions on the Contract regarding the Individual contractor’s performance under the Contract, the Individual contractor shall promptly notify UNDP and shall provide all reasonable assistance required by UNDP. The Individual contractor shall not take any action in respect of its performance of the Contract or otherwise related to its obligations under the Contract that may adversely affect the interests of UNDP, and the Individual contractor shall perform its obligations under the Contract with the fullest regard to the interests of UNDP. The Individual contractor warrants that it has not and shall not offer any direct or indirect benefit arising from or related to the performance of the Contract or the award thereof to any representative, official, employee or other agent of UNDP. The Individual contractor shall comply with all laws, ordinances, rules and regulations bearing upon the performance of its obligations under the Contract. In the performance of the Contract the Individual contractor shall comply with the standards of conduct set in the Secretary General’s Bulletin ST/SGB/2002/9 of 18 June 2002, entitled “Regulations Governing the Status, Basic Rights and Duties of Officials other than Secretariat Officials, and Expert on Mission”. In particular, the Individual contractor shall not engage in any conduct that would constitute sexual exploitation or sexual abuse, as defined in that bulletin.

The Individual contractor acknowledges and agrees that any breach of any of the provisions hereof shall constitute a breach of an essential term of the Contract, and, in addition to any other legal rights or remedies available to any person, shall give rise to grounds for termination of the Contract. In addition, nothing herein shall limit the right of UNDP to refer any alleged breach of the foregoing standards of conduct to the relevant national authorities for appropriate legal action.

The Recipient of such Information shall use the same care and discretion to avoid disclosure, publication or dissemination of the Discloser's Information as it uses with its own similar information that it does not wish to disclose, publish or disseminate, and the Recipient may otherwise use the Discloser's Information solely for the purpose for which it was disclosed. The Recipient may disclose confidential Information to any other party with the Discloser's prior written consent, as well as to the Recipient's employees, officials, representatives and agents who have a need to know such confidential Information solely for purposes of performing obligations under the Contract. Subject to and without any waiver of the privileges and immunities of UNDP, the Individual contractor may disclose Information to the extent required by law, provided that the Individual contractor will give UNDP sufficient prior notice of a request for the disclosure of Information in order to allow UNDP to have a reasonable opportunity to take protective measures or such other action as may be appropriate before any such disclosure is made. UNDP may disclose Information to the extent as required pursuant to the Charter of the United Nations, resolutions or regulations of the General Assembly or its other governing bodies, or rules promulgated by the Secretary-General. The Recipient shall not be precluded from disclosing Information that is obtained by the Recipient from a third party without restriction, is disclosed by the Discloser to a third party without any obligation of confidentiality, is previously known by the Recipient, or at any time is developed by the Recipient completely independently of any disclosures hereunder. These obligations and restrictions of confidentiality shall be effective during the term of the Contract, including any extension thereof, and, unless otherwise provided in the Contract, shall remain effective following any termination of the Contract.

The Individual contractor acknowledges and agrees that none of the insurance arrangements the Individual contractor may make shall, in any way, be construed to limit the Individual contractor's liability arising under or relating to the Contract.

11. ENCUMBRANCES AND LIENS: The Individual contractor shall not cause or permit any lien, attachment or other encumbrance by any person to be placed on file or to remain on file in any public office or on file with UNDP against any monies due to the Individual contractor or to become due for any work done or against any goods supplied or materials furnished under the Contract, or by reason of any other claim or demand against the Individual contractor.

Not more than fifteen (15) days following the provision of such notice of force majeure or other changes in conditions or occurrence, the Individual contractor shall also submit a statement to UNDP of estimated expenditures that will likely be incurred for the duration of the change in conditions or the event.
