TERMS OF REFERENCE

National Consultancy firm

To develop standards on medical masks, personal protective gowns and gloves

Estimated Duration: Sept 2020-Feb 2021
Duty Station: Viet Nam

A. Background:

Viet Nam's rapid and effective containment of COVID-19 is emerging as good example of Anticipatory Governance in action – from the first recorded case on 23 January to the current state today (04 September 2020) of 1046 cases, with 755 recovered and 35 deaths, Viet Nam is rightly being heralded by its citizens and the global community as one of the most promising responses at this time.

Anticipating the spread of the virus very early on, the Government of Viet Nam (GoV) took swift, decisive leadership action through contact tracing, isolation and quarantine measures to curtail the spread and limit community transmission. The key to this success was adopting a 'whole of government' approach, engaging both health and non-health sectors at all levels. Based on the overall principle of removing any financial barriers to health care access for COVID-19 patients, the GoV has ensured free testing and treatment and provided support to those quarantined.

After different rounds of consultation on the national production of PPE, three issues have come out from recent discussions. Firstly, the quality of medical masks and PPE is low and the current standard setting is low. This drives the need to have a new system of standards and regulations for PPE to be equivalent to international specifications that the World Health Organization advises. Secondly, the quality assurance support system is not yet available, to support the compliance and enforcement of regulations as well as to assist enterprises to export their products. This requires swift improvement and change in national capacity in PPE quality testing, assurance and certifying. And thirdly, there is a limited connection in the supply chain among relevant stakeholders including material suppliers, manufacturers, quality controllers, and buyers. Therefore, UNDP Viet Nam is planning to support the Government to address the bottlenecks and barriers in national production of PPE with two development goals: (1) enterprises have produced quality (meeting international standards) products and obtained necessary certificates for export; (2) good quality (meeting high standards) medical masks, gowns and gloves are provided for the healthcare sector and the community.
