Context

The Global Environment Facility in its Seventh replenishment (GEF-7), with a view to maintain or improve ecosystem services, land productivity, food security, and to increase the resilience of the land and the populations dependent on it, provides supports to the United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification (UNCCD)'s Land Degradation Neutrality (LDN) concept. The GEF-7, through its Biodiversity Focal Area programming, responds directly to the GEF7 Four-year Framework of Program Priorities agreed by countries at Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD) Conference of the Parties (COP)-13, as well as the Strategic Plan for Biodiversity, 2011-2020. Specifically, the proposed Biodiversity Focal Area is built around achieving three objectives: (i) Mainstream Biodiversity Across sectors as Well as Within Production Landscapes and Seascapes, (ii) Reduce Direct Drivers of Biodiversity Loss, and (iii) Strengthen Biodiversity Policy and Institutional Frameworks. Moreover, the GEF to continue and further enhance means to harness opportunities for leveraging synergies among the Rio Conventions and other relevant multilateral environmental agreements.

In line with the GEF-7 strategic and synergistic programming for Combating Land Degradation and Biodiversity Conservation, the project "Sustainable Forest and Forest Land Management in Viet Nam's Ba River basin landscape" aims to conserve forest biodiversity and maintain or improve the flow of ecosystem services through sustainable forest management embedded in a coordinated landscape-level approach across Ba River basin. More specifically, the project will implement following three (3) components to achieve its objective:

Under Component 1, the project will primarily build mechanisms and raise capacities to support the mainstreaming of biodiversity into management of forest landscapes in Viet Nam. As a result, institutions operating at national, provincial and target district levels, including relevant forest protection departments and district ranger boards, will have enhanced tools and capacities available in areas designed to enable landscape-level assessments and action planning.

In Component 2, the project will support a participatory, coordinated approach to the management of an estimated eight (8) Forest Management Units plus two (2) community-managed areas located within Ba River basin helping achieve improved management of globally significant forests covering approximately 156,000 ha. The identified project landscape in Gia Lai and Phu Yen includes a cross-section of special use forests, protected forests, production forests and community-managed areas, representing the mosaic of forest types and managers that is common across Viet Nam.

And finally, Component 3 will bring together policy mainstreaming, knowledge exchange and replication in a way that aims to optimize synergy and exchange among critical project outputs. In addition, while Components 1 and 2 focus on developing and demonstrating various approaches and methodologies, Component 3 will help to review, identify and address additional gaps in the relevant enabling environments, whether these are at national, provincial or district levels. It will do so based on lessons learned and knowledge gained during the project implementation, and their integration into guidance and recommendations for further policy improvement.

The project will deliver global environmental benefits by the adoption of biodiversity-friendly and SFM practices that will reduce land degradation, secure ecosystem services and mainstream biodiversity conservation. Specifically, the project will improve connectivity and increase High Conservation Value Forest (HCVF) areas; improve management effectiveness in three (3) protected areas covering 71,088 ha, including recognized Key Biodiversity Areas (KBAs); restore 500 ha of forest land resulting in improved biodiversity conservation in Viet Nam and contributing towards Viet Nam's LDN target.

Project Preparation Phase

The objective of the GEF PPG is to develop the project concept into a full project: Sustainable Forest and Forest Land Management in Viet Nam's Ba River basin landscape.
