UNITED NATIONS DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME
Accelerator Lab

Date: 14 June 2022

Duty Station: Kathmandu, Nepal

Duration: 8th July 2022- 8th October 2022

Background:

The Accelerator Lab in Nepal is working together with the sub-national governments, like-minded organizations (I/NGOs), academia and the private sectors to reduce the development gaps and support the Government of Nepal on achieving its development priorities. Among the various development challenges that the country is facing, the Accelerator Lab Nepal is currently focusing on 2 areas: Unemployment and Unplanned Urbanization for a longer term.

However, as short-term support and testing, Accelerator Lab in Nepal is also supporting government agencies, CSOs and other community-based organizations in innovations and experimentation around COVID-19 responses since 2020.

For COVID-19 relief response

During COVID-19 1st and 2nd wave majority of hospitals in Kathmandu valley faced severe shortage of oxygen during the second wave. Demand for oxygen sky-rocketed after COVID-19 affected patients required oxygen support (May 8, THT). To address this challenge, Nepal Academy of Science and Technology (NAST) has successfully tested the production of oxygen gas cylinder for the first time in Nepal on 19 May 2021. At a time when oxygen cylinders are in short supply, new cylinders are being manufactured and tested within the country (May 19, New Business Age).

To further support the second phase testing for NAST, UNDP Accelerator lab in Nepal is procuring one hydraulic power pack. A power pack is a self-contained unit that consists mainly of a motor, a reservoir and a hydraulic pump. Using fluid to transmit power from one location to another, hydraulic power packs can generate massive amounts of power which can be used to drive hydraulic machinery. When heavy lifting or repeated directional force is required, hydraulic power packs offer the perfect solution, drawing their power from ratios of area and pressure as defined by Pascal's law of physics.

Objectives of the Assignment:

The primary objectives of this assignment is to procure a hydraulic power pack.

Scope of the Assignment:

Under the direct supervision of the UNDP Accelerator Lab Nepal and NAST, the selected vendor shall perform following functions:
