1. General

Among all physiographic regions of Nepal, the mountain regions are the most vulnerable, because warming trends are growing, and impacts are magnified by the extreme changes due to variation in altitude. The high mountain catchments of Nepal are particularly prone to drought, landslides and floods, due to coincidence of seasonal snow melt with the summer monsoon season. Climate change is intensifying the monsoon rainfall and increasing snow and glacial melt rates, which is contributing to increased frequency and severity of flood and landslide disasters which result in extensive economic, life and livelihood losses annually. At the other extreme, water scarcity and droughts also pose a threat to the agriculture-reliant livelihoods of these regions. Climate change is increasing the temporal and spatial variability of rainfall and runoff, thus intensifying the problem of excess water during the monsoon and water scarcity during the dry season, increasing economic damages to agriculture, property, and the environment, disrupting lives and livelihoods and threatening food security.

A long-term solution to this climate change problem is to rehabilitate and maintain the functional integrity of watersheds that have critical functions of water storage and release, infiltration, drainage control and soil moisture retention. Using watersheds as organizing units for planning and implementation of natural resource management and resilient livelihood development is an approach to effectively tackle an immediate and long-term climate risk reduction issues, in relation to floods and droughts. Taking watershed management concerns into consideration GON/UNDP is implementing "Developing climate resilient livelihoods in the vulnerable watershed in Nepal" in Dudhkoshi watershed (area 844 Sq. Km, beneficiaries 121,606 people) covering total 8 local government units (Palikas) of Khotang and Okhaldhunga. The project mainly aims to address climate change induced hazards, introducing and scaling up integrated adaptive watershed management practices. The project has two outcomes:

1. Integrated Watershed Management Framework has been established to address climate change induced floods and draughts, and
2. Integrated Watershed Management Practices introduced and scaled up in Lower Dudhkoshi watershed area.

1. BACKGROUND

DCRL is a joint initiative of the Government of Nepal (GoN) and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). It is a 4-year project executed from 1st Dec.2020 in partnership with the Department for Forest and Soil Conservation (DFSC) under the Ministry of Forests and Environment (MoFE). The project is aiming to address the climate-induced flood and drought hazards particularly in climate-vulnerable watersheds that are also degraded and poorly managed to minimize its impact on the lives and livelihood of vulnerable communities. It is implemented at a pilot scale in the lower Dudhkoshi watershed covering 844 sq. km from 8 local government units (Palikas) of Khotang and Okhaldhunga districts of Nepal with the funding support of Global Environment Facility (GEF)-Least Developed Country Fund (LDCF). The project is working with diverse stakeholders including Government Agencies, Non-Government Organizations and Academic Institutions to implement project activities at national and sub-national levels.

Project Objective

The main objective of the project is to safeguard vulnerable communities and their physical and economic assets from climate change-induced disasters by applying a long-term, multi-hazard approach – with a particular stewardship role for women and marginalized communities. The project is introducing and scaling up integrated adaptive watershed management approaches to strengthen functional integrity through multiple activities including capturing the policy, and institutional knowledge gaps, and adoption of new tools and techniques.

Project Outcomes: The DCRL project has two outcomes;

Outcome 1: Integrated watershed management framework has been established to address climate change-induced floods and droughts. Under this outcome; four outputs results are envisioned as follows;

Output 1.1: Watershed condition assessments updated, and hydrometeorological hazard, risk, vulnerability, and socio-economic model of climate change impacts delivered to underpin watershed management decisions across the sectors.

Output 1.2: Climate change risks addressed in watershed rehabilitation and management framework.

Output 1.3: Specialized technical training and technology delivered

Output 1.4: Enforcement mechanisms for watershed management and land policies embedding climate change considerations, including legal incentives to enable PES.

Outcome 2: Integrated watershed management practices introduced and scaled up in 1 watershed covering 844 km² (84,400 ha) of watershed areas and benefiting 121,606 vulnerable people.

Output 2.1: Based on risk and vulnerability assessments, integrated, adaptive sub-watershed management plans developed for four target sub watersheds to guide investments.

Output 2.2: Water and drainage control measures implemented at the sub-catchment level, including water retention structures and catchment ponds with groundwater recharge, controlled drainage, and with maintenance systems established.

Output 2.3: Watershed rehabilitation, Conservation farming, and integrated agroforestry practices introduced interspersed with fodder and controlled fuelwood production (including efficient stoves) with the active involvement of women.

Output 2.4: Community stewardship programs established and implemented within the selected sub-watersheds with a focus on women and marginal communities.

Output 2.5: Knowledge management and learning.

2. RATIONALE OF THE ASSIGNMENT

The project has been implementing a large number of activities through diverse partners to achieve project goals and targets in the project districts. The key areas of the project intervention include promoting integrated watershed management mainly related to multi-hazard risk and vulnerability mitigation, water stress management, green economy and agroforestry promotion, conservation farming, degraded land rehabilitation, capacity building, knowledge generation and so on. The project document has provisioned hiring of social mobilizer to collect and review baseline data in both treatment and control wards on a regular basis in order to track the gradual changes brought by the project interventions in a total of 16 wards (8 treatment and 8 control wads) of eight rural/urban municipalities. The list of controlled and treatment ward are presented in the table below:
